Luis Albano Tondo, Chief Executive Officer of Jaguar, commented: "We are pleased to announce this C$25.0 million private placement, which reflects the market's confidence in Jaguar's assets and strategy. The funds raised will enable us to advance the restart of the Turmalina Mine and expand our exploration activities in the highly prospective Iron Quadrangle. This financing enhances our balance sheet and reduces risk across our portfolio, positioning the Company to pursue increased production and ongoing resource growth. We view this offering as an important step forward in our continued progress."

The Iron Quadrangle

The Iron Quadrangle has been an area of mineral exploration dating back to the 16th century. The discovery in 1699–1701 of gold contaminated with iron and platinum-group metals in the southeastern corner of the Iron Quadrangle gave rise to the name of the town Ouro Preto (Black Gold). The Iron Quadrangle contains world-class multi-million-ounce gold deposits such as Morro Velho, Cuiabá, and São Bento. Jaguar holds the second largest gold land position in the Iron Quadrangle with over 46,000 hectares.
